A prompt payment after interest is often first importance and in this letter on the Countersignature of the Subdivisional Officers may entail delay. It appears the sufficient to require that the bills for the payment after interest should be countersigned after enquiry themselves that the institutions is properly maintained and that regular accounts are kept. Such countersigned bills may be sent to the Mukhtasar Supdt. direct after enquiry for being forwarded to the Comptroller for audit and payment to the party in any Treasury desired. It will be an instruction to the Subdivisional Officers that they should during their tours enquire into the conduct of these institutions and if it should appear to them that the management is anything but satisfactory, they should report immediately to the Dy Commr by their district about the same

SIR,

I have the honour to invite reference to Rules III,IV & V in para 3 of Government Order No.Fl:473-503/G.F.15-09-2 dated 15th July 1909 laying down conditions of acceptance of endowments for charitable purposes at favourable rates of interest.

2. It would appear from these rules that the payment of interest on these endowments is subject to the condition that the interest paid by Government should be used only for the purpose for which it is intended and that proper accounts should be maintained and should be opened to the inspection of the officers deputed by the Government for the purpose.

Further an annual report on the administration of the fund accompanied with abstracts of accounts in forms prescribed by Governmen from time to time is to be sent to Government.

3. At present bills for interest on these endowments are at times presented to this office direct by the administrators concerned and this office has to pass them for payment to the parties concerned without knowing if the conditions which ought to be satisfied before

As it is necessary that before payment of interest is authorized, the audit office should have some evidence that the interest is really payable according to the terms of the Government orders. I would suggest that Government may rule that the bills for interest should in all such cases be signed by the Government officer deputed by Government to examine the accounts of the institution concerned as per rule IV in token of all the conditions imposed by Government being fulfilled.

4. The names of the officers who are deputed for the examination of these institutions may also be communicated to this office.

With a view to avoid the inconvenience pointed out by the Comptroller in his letter read above, Government consider it necessary that the following procedure should be laid down for guidance:-

(1) Bills claiming payment of the half-yearly interest due on such deposits should, in the first instance, be presented by the trustees of the institutions to the Bankers with their respective talons as should be returned as little delay as possible ~~deposit~~ submit them to be direct to the Deputy Commissioner with a report on the conditions of the institutions concerned. The bills will then be - countersigned by the Deputy Commissioner and forwarded to the Comptroller for audit and payment through the - Amildars to the parties concerned.

(2) In case the Deputy Commissioner should be satisfied that the affairs of the institutions are systematically mismanaged, the Deputy Commissioner - may refuse to countersign the bills so submitted, a written notice to this effect being immediately sent to the - managers of the institutions concerned.

(3) The Deputy Commissioner by himself or through his Sub-Division Officer should, whenever possible, enquire into the conduct of such institutions and once a year at least examine in detail the accounts maintained by their managers.
